THE MONTANA KAIMIN

STATE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA, MISSOULA, MONTANA

FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1929.

VOLUME XXVIII, NO. 62.

BOBCAT VS. GRIZZLY IN FORENSIC FRAY AT BOZEMAN TONITE

Russell Smith, Joseph Sherich and Harold Fitzgerald
Carry Montana's Colors Against Traditional Rivals.

University debaters will meet Montana State tonight in Bozeman in the first inter-collegiate debate to be held between the two schools for a number of years. The debate will be an extemporaneous affair and is a unique meeting in that it will be the first inter-collegiate debate to be held in the state. Those representing Montana are Russell Smith, Joseph Sherich and Harold Fitzgerald. The team is accompanied by Hugh Lindsey of the English department, coach of Montana debate team.

The subject for debate is "The United States Foreign Policy," and the specific phase of this question to be debated upon will be selected by Dr. David Barrows, head of the political science department and former president of the University of California. This question has been sent sealed to President Atkinson of the Bozeman college and will be opened by him in the presence of the debaters two hours before the contest.

Each individual debater may select either side of the question to talk on, and this may mean that State College men and Montana University men will be debating together against members of the home teams.

A $50 gold medal will be given to the speaker presenting the best solution to the problem. There will be three judges.

Harold Fitzgerald is a sophomore and a pre-legal student. This is his first inter-collegiate debate, and he has taken part in dramas on the campus. Smith is a junior in the law school, and is a veteran debater. He participated in the debate with Australia held here this year, and was a member of the team that went to California this winter. Sherich, another pre-legal student, is also taking part in his first inter-collegiate debate.

Mr. Lindsey said, in sizing up the team: "Smith is an extremely good give-and-take speaker. Sherich is an extremely good extemporaneous speaker, and Fitzgerald has splendid diction, making a good analysis of the question."

STUDENTS SOON TO HAVE 18-HOLE GOLF COURSE, SAYS T. SWEARINGEN

Work to Begin on Second Nine Holes Next Week; Will Be Located Directly West of Present Course.

University students and the citizens of Missoula will soon have their first eighteen hole golf course, according to the announcement made yesterday by Tom Swearingen, maintenance engineer of the State University. Surveying has been completed and the holes laid out.

Work will begin on the second nine holes on the Community golf course next week. They will be located directly west of the present holes. The first tee will be on the opposite side of the small clubhouse from the first tee at the present time. The course will extend over the entire vacant land south and west of the clubhouse. The ninth hole will be located near the clubhouse. This will enable the golfers to play eighteen holes without going around the same course twice.

The work is under the general supervision of E. K. Badgley, University auditor, who represents the Alumni association. The Alumni association is financing the venture.

S. O. S. POSTPONED TO TUESDAY NIGHT BECAUSE OF RAIN

The last S. O. S. of this year, which was to have been held last night has been unavoidably postponed until Tuesday night, according to Nelson Fritz, yell leader.

Due to the fact that the postponement was not announced to all organizations a large crowd of students gathered before Main hall last night and waited for some time before it was found that there was to be no Sing.

The new University flag, which did not arrive on scheduled time, will be presented at the S. O. S. Tuesday, and the yell leader for next year will be announced.

Alumni Book Being Mailed To Old Grads

Life of Governor Toole Is Featured.

"Montana Almanus," a pamphlet dealing with matters of interest to the State University and issued quarterly, is now being mailed to alumni of the University and other subscribers, according to Carl McFarland, editor.

The leading article of the spring quarter's edition is a short summary of the life of Joseph K. Toole, first governor of Montana and the second person to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from the faculty of the State University. He died at Helena March 11 of this year.

There are articles regarding the two measures for the support of the Greater University which will be submitted to the voters in 1930, regarding the Montana alumni now prominent in state education, the endowment for a school of religion, entertainment plans for alumni at the Thirty-second Annual Commencement week of the State University to be held from June 7 to 10, and an article by Dr. James H. Snowden, professor of systematic theology in the Western Theological seminary, regarding his experience as an instructor at the 1928 summer session of the University.

University notes, a brief summary of athletics and class notes are also included in the pamphlet.

Missoula Bird Club Sponsor Of "Tempest"

Barrymore Picture to Raise Funds for Elrod Bird Sanctuary.

The Missoula Bird club, in order to raise money for "The Elrod Bird Sanctuary," is sponsoring the motion picture, "The Tempest," starring John Barrymore, which will be shown at the Wilma theater next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The club will receive 40 per cent of the ticket sale that is conducted by students on the campus and by Mrs. Paul C. Phillips.

The International Club orchestra will be an added feature to the Sunday night program while the high school glee club and orchestra will play Monday night and the university Girls' glee club will be the special feature of the program Tuesday night.

The picture has made an exceptional run while in Chicago.

The Missoula Bird club is undertaking the responsibility of providing a refuge for birds of their neighborhood. It is to be located at the foot of Mount Sentinel on a corner of the University campus. It is in a way a tribute to Professor M. J. Elrod, who has done so much for the protection of bird life and will be a unique attraction, of interest to all who visit Missoula or who are interested in the study of birds in their natural surroundings.

A bird sanctuary to be of highest use needs more than legal protection. It must be supplied with feeding grounds and feed and with safe places for nesting. It must contain the shrubs and trees that appeal to different kinds of birds. As our lands are now so thoroughly under cultivation, to help the needs of man, it becomes the responsibility of man to provide artificial refuges for birds or they will disappear. The law offers all the opportunity needed. Birds may well be a part of the life of the community. Without them the out-of-doors would be quite different and not nearly so attractive.

Open Shelf Will Continue Next Summer

McCollum Offers Tentative Plan for Shelf In Store.

"The Open Shelf," as it is constituted now, will be continued throughout the summer quarter and next year," said Miss Gertrude Buckhous, librarian, in a statement yesterday.

Books now on the Shelf are not the latest publications, but constitute a worthwhile collection and make it possible for the students, who are not allowed to inspect the shelves to make use of this shelf as a sampler.

A tentative plan was offered by Maurice McCollum, manager of the Student Store, in a meeting of the Open Shelf committee held yesterday morning in the library, to put in a rental shelf of the newest and most up-to-date books in the Associated Students store. A browsing room may be considered in connection with this plan.

Bob Struckman, chairman of the student committee, will report to Central Board at their next meeting about provisions for next year's student committee.

DR. CLAPP DELIVERS ADDRESS AT BUTTE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Speaks on "Educating for a Changing World" to Class in Mining City High.

Speaking on "Educating for a Changing World," Dr. C. H. Clapp, president of the State University, delivered the commencement address at the exercises held this morning in the Butte high school. Dr. Clapp, who left for Butte Thursday night, is expected to return tonight.

Dr. Clapp emphasized the fact that education must be able to meet new situations, must not become too standardized, must tell the "why" of things rather than simply teaching the "how." He pointed out that although the world changes in certain of its material aspect rather rapidly, the motors which control it, referring to the world of education in particular, remain much the same today as they were 25 years ago.

Montana chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, honor debate society, was installed on the campus Wednesday by Stanley Haucks of Minneapolis, national grand president of the fraternity. Initiation ceremonies were held at 4 o'clock in the courtroom of the Law school, for the charter members, including Carl McFarland, James Beck, Russell Smith, Pauline Astle and Mary Brennan. Ernest Lake, Rhea Traver and Robert Young were also taken into the chapter at this time.

Wednesday noon a luncheon was held at the Chimney Corner for the charter members, and at 2 o'clock Mr. Haucks addressed the members of the fraternity and the class in public speaking, at the Little Theater. He spoke on the history of Delta Sigma Rho and its purpose.

Delta Sigma Rho was founded April 13, 1906, at the University of Minnesota by six professors of speech. Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana were among the middle western states represented. The purpose of the society is the encouragement of debating and speaking activities on the campus. Charters are granted only to the better institutions of the country, where instruction in public speaking is given, and are founded on the educational rating of the school. There are approximately 40 chapters in existence at the present time.

Kappa Tau Theta and Pi Kappa Alpha are two other forensic societies that admit both men and women, but Delta Sigma Rho is the only organization of its kind where all eligible are not elected. Requirements for admission are outstanding participation in two or more intercollegiate debates and a completion of all courses in public speaking that the school or university may offer. Four or five members are admitted each year.

The first forensic organization formed on the Montana campus was the debate Union, to which all interested in or participating in debate belonged.

Faculty members are Hugh Lindsey, who is a member of the Stanford chapter; Jesse W. Bunch, graduate assistant in the English department, and J. H. Toole, associate professor of law.

Welcome.

MEMBERS of the faculty and the student body are united in welcoming Montana's newest honorary fraternity. Delta Sigma Rho is regarded as one of the outstanding honorary fraternities in the country and the granting of the Montana charter is a recognition of our advancement in debate and public speaking.

The establishment of the fraternity on the campus will increase interest in forensic. It will bring out a greater number of students for the squads. It is a progressive move and those responsible are to be commended.

The Intelligentia.

ONE of the most amusing phases of modern undergraduate life is the prevalence of the groups of so-called intellectuals. Every campus has its several cliques meeting periodically to solve the weightier problems of life.

Each of the several groups is secure in the knowledge that they are the local leaders of thought. This belief arises from natural causes. There is necessarily a good deal of mutual back-slapping connected with the meeting. Ego is stimulated and the stimulators regarded as brilliant fellows. Each member is sure his contribution to the discussion is quite worth while. Hence the group is the intellectual.

These are worthwhile discussions in that they serve to clear up the half-formed thoughts in the individual mind. Giving utterance to ideas is recognized as an excellent means of organizing those ideas. This good is neutralized by a cynical attitude developed by members of the group.

The chief problem concerning the majority of these intellectual groups is the mental development of their fellow students. All agree that the remainder of undergraduates is possessed of a remarkably low I. Q. and should not be permitted to clutter up the halls of learning. Just what should be done with those who are not so fortunate in their choice of ancestors they have not determined. To be sure solutions are offered every day but somehow they are not practical in our present state.

They constantly condemn the antics of the modern collegian and bemoan the absence of the perfect state—a state modeled to fit their individual conceptions of higher learning. Destructive criticism is a good thing. It brings about advancement and keeps us from falling into a rut—when it comes from an understanding source.

Many of these groups keep to themselves to such an extent that they cannot possibly know what is being done on the outside. They do not know whether or not intellectual advancement is at a standstill. Yet they feel capable of criticism.

It would be an excellent thing if those of the "intelligentia" would stand off and take a good look at the universe and actually think for a moment. They would see that the universe is really a tremendous thing and they are after all quite a small part of it.

S. O. S.

Last night S. O. S. took on a new meaning—Stung on the Steps!

At the appointed hour of 7:30 a large group of girls migrated from North hall to the front of Main hall. There they took their regular places on the north side of the Main hall walk. It was a nice looking group. It was 7:30 and no one had appeared from the other direction. The south side of the walk was vacant.

At 7:32 the fair faces of the fair co-eds began to take on a peculiar look—a half confident appearance. THEY at least weren't late. They were laughing.

At 7:35 they were milling around and doubt began to take the place of confidence. "What is wrong?" someone asked. But there was no answer.

A few more people began to come but no official appeared. At 7:38 a reporter went up the steps into Main hall to use the telephone. A hundred fair faces turned up toward him. He smiled. He wasn't a cheer-leader.

At 12 minutes to 8 o'clock the crowd gave up hope and disappeared in a band. A group of house-mothers was the last to leave.

Each year awards are made of a series of fellowships for advanced study in France to qualified candidates selected from among the graduates of American colleges and universities and from the technical and industrial field, each carrying a stipend of $1,400.

Application blanks for the next award and information about these fellowships will be ready for distribution in October, 1929, and may be obtained from the Institute of International Education, 2 West 45th Street, New York City.

Painting by Riedell To Stevensville High

Professor Clifford H. Riedell, head of the University Art department, recently completed an oil painting which will be hung in the Stevensville high school.

The students of that school raised a fund to purchase one of Professor Riedell's paintings for their halls.

The canvas measures 8 by 24 inches. The subject of the painting is "Bull Lake," located in the Kootenai forest. Mr. Riedell said he painted the scene before his classes in art, to demonstrate methods of painting. The work was completed in about an hour and a half's time.

Girl's Hot Tip Steers Student to Favorite Pipe Tobacco

San Francisco, Cal.

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va. Gentlemen:

Since I first started to smoke, I have always smoked cigarettes. One day SHE said to me "Ed, dear, why don't you smoke a pipe. I think those long straight-stemmed pipes are so much more looking."

So, naturally, I had to buy a long-stemmed pipe and a can of well, well, I call it "Blubs Mixture tobacco." Immediately with a certain feeling of pride in my new pipe, I "lighted up" and proceeded to have my tongue bitten. I tried almost every brand I had ever heard of, but none satisfied me. Sadly, I had to confess to HER that as a pipe smoker I was a good dietitian.

"Did you try Edgeworth's?" she asked. "That is what dad smoked, and he's always smoked a pipe." So I was forced to try Edgeworth, and all that I can say is that if every fellow that has tried to accustom himself to a pipe, started with Edgeworth, there would be very few that would go back to cigarettes.

Yours sincerely, Ed Maher

KAIMIN WILL CONDUCT EMPLOYMENT BUREAU FOR "U" STUDENTS

The Kaimin will conduct an employment service for the students on the campus. Almost constantly the department heads are receiving notices from different sources that offer student employment but the difficulty in letting students know of the opportunities has narrowed its effect. In the future the Kaimin will run, each Tuesday, a column with listed jobs and which department head should be interviewed should a student be interested. The column will be run for purely beneficial purposes and no paid advertising will be included.

MONTANA STATE TAKES 11 MEN TO SALT LAKE CITY

Coach Adams Enters Men in All Events but Discus, Broad Jump, Hammer Throw.

Coach Adams with 11 Montana State track athletes and Manager Rutledge left Bozeman Wednesday afternoon for Salt Lake City where the team will compete in the Rocky Mountain conference meet. The Bobcat coach expects to enter men in every event except the hammer throw, discus and broad jump but does not expect to be a contender for the title. He declared he would be satisfied if his men were able to pick up points in the various events by scoring a few seconds and thirds. The Rocky Mountain conference, which includes the Colorado schools, the Utah schools, Wyoming and Montana State, has not been particularly strong in track previous to this year but now boasts of some athletes of exceptional ability. Dutch Clark, the all-American football player and basketball star from Colorado College, will display his wares as will Beattie, a great weight man from Colorado Agricultural school. Beattie recently set a new discus mark at the Kansas relays.

WHAT THE DEANS THINK:

"The American 'collegiate' of the stage and the comic papers constitutes an unimportant fraction of the American college youth, and his idiosyncracies are 'high school stuff' indulged in frequently by irresponsible who are not even students at any college." This is the consensus of opinion expressed by deans and presidents of three hundred universities and colleges and obtained by questionnaires sent out by Henry Grattan Doyle, Dean of Men of George Washington University.

In Dean Doyle's report the following statement was made by Dean Culver: "The 'collegiate' is fast disappearing, and there is a noticeable change during recent years as to improved personal appearance and dress. The so-called 'collegiate' does not long survive at Stanford. The present generation in reality works much harder than the early college generations because the world requires better-trained men and women."

Misogynists might well note the reply of all deans of co-educational institutions to the question, "What effect do women have on the student body?" Without exception the answer was that the presence of women students on the campus had a pronounced good effect upon the personal appearance and conduct of male students.

The little matter so often thrown in the fact of the present generation in regard to its trend toward "the dogs," was definitely cleared by the deans' replies. They were of the opinion that the present generation compares quite favorably in ideals and conduct with past generations, and furthermore, this present generation does more work than its fathers did. Write that home.

Dean Doyle endeavored to find a correlation between the five problems: drinking, "necking," neglect of classwork, dishonesty in examinations, and other ethical problems, and the 'collegiate,' already declared a negligible factor in the modern university. His endeavor was futile. Half the deans saw a definite connection between these problems and the comic-strip student; the other half saw none.

It is believed that these cardinal sins of the college student extend back to the first student in the first university. The matter of "collegiateism" is of distinctly modern origin. What connection, but accidental, could there be between them? One reply of a certain dean bears repetition. It will no doubt interest most students. "There is a frivolous minority which does, I think, indulge in drinking, necking, and the like." It might be said that perhaps the vision of this dean is a bit myopic.

The work is an admirable one. Anything that will present a true picture of the American university man and thus dispel the exaggerated caricature generally accepted by the public is exceedingly commendable.

The report is very optimistic, perhaps too much so. No student could read it without becoming convinced that he is a member of a Panglossian generation which is the mainstay of the best of all possible college worlds. Every student knows otherwise, but he cannot help but be pleased to know that a real effort has been made to give the world an accurate conception of what he is actually like.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS.

Twice each year at the specified intervals, the collegiate observer hears a rumble on the horizon of opinion. It is at these times that everyone's editorial collar begins to chafe at the rub of final exams; and college journals in particular find it then convenient to subject this much-scarred institution to "a searching analysis."

The problem, however, despite a vast and notorious flippancy and bitterness of comment, remains irritatingly with us. Every now and then some educational figure comes out in black type as opposing or upholding the mooted practice. At Columbia College Dean Hawkes recently let out a few words joyous to lackadaisical undergraduates—all that it was hoped to have required to obtain credit for a course, he declared in effect, was that "the student be there in the flesh." This was greeted with a hilarity which we deem somewhat menacing to the educational worth of the proposal. Other, and more or less quieter "experiments" have been going on in different parts of the country, and student curriculum committees have not been altogether taciturn on the subject at City College.

This institution, indeed, has heard quite a bit about its final examinations. Knowledge of their difficulty seems to be instinct abroad, more, perhaps, than the particular facts would warrant. What is more consistently obvious, is that reform, or even experiment, in the field of end-term exams has not been conspicuous by its presence at C. C. N. Y. True, occasionally we have heard of professors dumping exam papers in the river, or going for a vacation during exam week and mailing in the grades, but concerted action has not for a long time advanced beyond the proposal stage. It is entirely safe to assume that student strenuousness during the last week of the term at present nets the individual the absurdly disproportionate amount of twenty-five to fifty per cent of his grading.

If there is anything the student has usually resented it is this high regard for the indicative results of final examinations. This resentment we think has obscured what to us is perhaps a more important matter—the relative status of examinations in required, prerequisite and elective courses.—The Campus, C. C. N. Y.

DES MOINES SITUATION

There have been unseemly doings of late among the young theologians at Des Moines university. Staid trustees have been saluted with eggs, furniture has been smashed, the president of the board of trustees and the lady secretary have had to hide in a washroom to protect themselves from irate students, and President Wayman and forty members of the faculty have been fired summarily, without notice, toute de suite. To such uncut lengths do the passions of fundamentalism lead! For one gathers, out of the wreck of what was once a respectable Baptist college, that the row was due in the main to a conflict between fundamentalists and modernists. There were, however, other elements in the disaffection: resentment over the abolition of fraternities and sororities, suggestions of the anti-American attitude of Dr. Shields, president, and Miss Edith M. Rebban, secretary of the board, and—although this should not be uttered above a whisper—rumors of a scandalous nature concerning the conduct of the above named trustees; rumors which, let it be hastily said, have been hotly and completely denied by the other trustees in committee assembled. Whatever the cause, the trustees ordered the university closed and put under police guard. As we go to press an injunction suspending this order has been issued and classes are temporarily resumed. But one suspects that injunction or no injunction, the students are more or less in the state of the little boy whose dream about the burning of the school-house came true. The flood waters have risen, the land has been submerged, but—in this modern version—Noah himself and all the righteous are in imminent danger of being drowned.—The Nation.

Business Ad Grads Obtain Employment

Ten Positions Still Open; Business Houses Want "U" Men.

Of the 25 Business Administration majors graduating, approximately 14 have been given employment placements through the efforts of the faculty and dean of the business school. There are still about ten applications unfulfilled which have been received from various companies and business houses in the state asking for University men.

M.; Frances Lines is teaching commercial work in Klein, Montana, and Henry McFarlin is in business for himself in Billings. Oscar Malmquist secured a job in the accounting department of the Western Electric company in Chicago; Carl Rippel with the Western Electric company in Chicago; Frank Tierney in the accounting department of the Western Electric company in Chicago; Clarice Shaw as manager of Shaw General mercantile store in Jefferson Island.

Pharmacists Lead in Intercollege Ball League; Arts and Science Second

Lawyers in Third Position; Business Ads, Journalists Share Fourth; Foresters in Hole.

STANDINGS OF INTER-SCHOOL TEAMS.

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Pharmacy	3	0	1.000
Arts and Science	2	0	1.000
Law	1	1	.500
Journalism	1	2	.333
Business Ad	1	2	.333
Forestry	0	3	.000

Triumphing over the Foresters, 5-1, Tuesday afternoon, the Pharmacy nine retained its place at the head of the Inter-College baseball tournament with three victories and no losses tying with the Arts and Science club for high honors. The Lawyers claim the third place position with a win and a defeat. The Business Ad team was forced to share fourth place with the Journalists who won in a thrilling, 6 to 4, game from the Foresters yesterday.

Brown Weakened in Second.
Knocking Brown out of the box in the second by collecting four hits, the Pharmacists overcame the five-run lead gained by the Foresters in the first half of the same game when they sent five runners across the plate to tie the woodsman at seven all. The winning tally was made in the next inning when Donald signed and scored on Curdy's hit.

Mellinger started the pitching for the Druggists but was relieved in the second by Arndt after three runs had been made on a pair of hits and an error. Arndt checked a nice game, allowing but two safe blows. Brown, the froth twirler, was given the hurling duty for the Foresters. He lasted half way through the second when the Pharmacists went on a hitting spree and sent him to the bench. Matthews, who relieved Brown, had scarcely better luck than his teammate but managed to hold the druggists in check until the next to last inning when the winning counter was made.

Honnald and Mellinger showed the best performance of the day with the willow, each collecting a pair of hits for the Pharmacy nine. Arndt, who smacked the ball every time he was up, was credited with one hit although he hit the sphere to all parts of the field.

Arts and Science Win.
Wednesday's game was close until the fourth frame when the Arts and Science outfit scored five runs on a triple, two doubles and a couple of errors.

Treichler was touched for 12 hits by the Arts and Science nine although he truck out eight batters. Dragstedt, the opposing heaver, allowed 10 safe blows and fanned three men.

The Business Ad outfit tallied a lone counter in the second to take the lead when Stillings scored on Tippet's double, after he had reached first on an error. The winners tied the count in the last half of the same inning when Beckett crossed the plate after singling to short right. The Arts and Science club took the lead in the third stanza when five runs were made on Coran's and Tiernan's doubles. Overturn's triple to deep right center and two infield errors.

Treichler Weakens in Fourth.
Three more runs were added to the Arts and Science score in the fourth when Tiernan, Illman and Currie tallied after Treichler weakened and gave four hits. They scored again in the final frame to win the contest by a three-run margin.

The Business Ad nine registered three runs in the fourth when Rohlf's, Le Roux and Sheehan crossed the plate on Tippet's double. Treicher and Rohlf's scored ahead of Le Roux in the final innings when the first sacker sent a long fly to the right garden.

Rohlf's, Le Roux and Tippet made eight of their team's 10 hits while Tiernan drove out three safe blows in four times up.

Journalists Win Game.
Yesterday's game between the Forestry school nine and Scribbs was one of the best exhibitions of baseball yet seen this year on the University diamond, according to the fans who saw the Journalists grab the contest in the sixth inning when they sent two runners across the plate to win, 6 to 4.

The woodsman scored three runs in the first frame with two outs when Jost, Wallace and Alton scored on three hits and an error. They added another counter in the third and were held by Lewis who allowed but five hits during the seven-inning contest, being given excellent support by his teammates who nabbed grounders and caught flies like veterans.

Score Tied in Fifth Inning.
The Journalists tallied once in the initial stanza when Dickson, lead-off man, banged out a triple over the right-field fence and scored on a single. Two more counters were added in the fourth and fifth to tie the score at four all. Rohlf's double sent home Dickson, who had reached first on an error and stole second. The second tally was made when Rohlf's counted on Lewis' two-base smack.

Lewis held the Woodsman well in hand the next inning when two men got on base after the Journalists had retired the first two men up.

The Business Ad team will attempt to break the Pharmacists' winning streak this afternoon when the two nines clash at 4 o'clock. Saturday morning at 10 o'clock the Lawyers and Scribbs will meet.

Kittendorf Models Now Being Displayed

"Doctor Joe," "Old Lady," "Dancer in Nude" Feature Works.

Mrs. G. A. Kittendorf of Missoula has placed a number of bust sculptures which she modeled from life on display at the University Art room, 302, Main hall. Mrs. Kittendorf studied at the Chicago Art Institute. Among the portraits from life is a study of Edmund Geisbert, a German artist who studied at the institute at the same time as Mrs. Kittendorf.

Other models are entitled "Half Breed," "Doctor Joe," "Old Lady," and "Dancer in Nude," modeled for a Chicago dancer. There is also a portrait of Ruth Hammit, a local dancing instructor.

Of particular interest is a study of Mrs. Kittendorf's small daughter which she modeled last year.

Following the recent fad of sculpturing in soap, Mrs. Kittendorf has modeled a few interesting portraits with this medium which are also on display. The collection will be on exhibition for the remainder of the week.

NEW REPUBLIC ESSAY CONTEST WINNER NAMED

The first prize in The New Republic's essay contest on the subject, "College as It Might Be," went to Howard Jay Graham, of the class of 1927 at Whitman college, now a graduate student at the University of California. The judges, Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn of the Experimental college at the University of Wisconsin, Dean Max McConn of Lehigh university, author of "College or Kindergarten," and Professor Robert Ross Lovett of the University of Chicago, one of the editors of The New Republic, experienced great difficulty in choosing among several papers of high merit.

Essays in the contest were received from students and graduates of 73 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada, with midwestern and eastern districts most heavily represented. More than twice as many men as women competed, and more undergraduates than graduates. Their plans for ideal colleges showed a heavy preponderance for co-education and against intercollegiate athletics; a smaller preponderance against fraternities, and a general protest against the grading system, against examinations, and even in many cases the conferring of degrees.

"The college misjudges us soda clerks, newsboys, shoe-salesmen's sons and preachers' daughters," says Mr. Graham, whose essay appears in this week's New Republic. "Truly we are 'intellectual barbarians' but to infer that we are incapable of education . . . raises the question 'incapable of what kind of education?' In place of the course system I propose an intensive searching study by each student of some problem, field, or institution in which he is interested." In conclusion the author demands, "And did not the Barbarians conquer Rome?"

With the freshmen scheduled to meet the sophomores, the women's inter-class baseball tournament will get under way on the women's athletic field Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Judging by practice performances the freshmen have the better chance to win, having a heavier batting force than the sophomores, though the second year team is better in the field.

The freshman team line-up for the game follows: M. Randall, pitcher and catcher; Sorenson, pitcher and first base; U. Randall, first base; Cone, second base; Heg-land, third base; Ellison, short stop; Van Der Vort, Fessler and Williams, field; Webster, Naylor and Hurst, subs.

The sophomore line-up is: Grif-fith, pitcher and field; Holden, pitcher and field; Eekley, pitcher and field; Kuehn, catcher; Seewald, catcher and field; McMurdo, first base; McCormick, second base; Wilson, third base; Patterson, short stop; Tendeland, sub.

IDAHO VANDAL TRACK ARTISTS TO MEET GRIZZLIES SATURDAY

Last Home Track Meet of Season This Year.
Vandals Strong.

Grizzly track team is to engage in a dual track meet with the University of Idaho Vandals tomorrow afternoon. This is the last home appearance of the Grizzly track team this season and will be the last chance to see in action such men as Captain Thomas Davis, George Martin, and "Shorty" Huber. A close contest is expected as the performance of the two teams so far this season has been about equal, but on account of the numerous Grizzly injuries it is doubtful if the Grizzlies will be able to put into the field as good a team as that of the Vandals.

With everything pointing in favor of the Vandal squad it appears that tomorrow's contest will be madly fought from the beginning to the finish of the relay race, the last event of the program. The Grizzlies are greatly handicapped by the recent injuries and the fact that they will be able to enter only one man in six different events, thus giving the Vandals a decided advantage from the start. "It would not be so bad," declared Coach J. W. Stewart, "if the men entered in these six events were sure of first places but the fact is that we will be lucky to if we take thirds, let alone seconds, in these events as the Vandals are extremely strong in all.

Grizzlies Won Last Year.
The result of the meet last year was 70 3/4 to 60 1/2 in favor of the Grizzlies but as the Vandals have almost the identical team that they had last year it is expected that the contest will be much closer this year. The Grizzlies will be again handicapped by injuries and the loss of many men who did not come back to school at the beginning of the quarter. The only good man that the Idaho team lost was Don Cleaver, a sensational distance man who had exceptional ability in the longer races.

Tomorrow will be the last opportunity for local fans to see some of Montana's star performers in action on the cinder path and the field. Capt. Tom Davis tomorrow will run his last 440 yard dash on the Montana track. Davis's races in the past three years have been exceedingly spectacular, especially in those against the age-old foe, the Bobcats, and the never-to-be-forgotten race that he ran in the conference relay last year.

Martin in Last Race.
George "Scotty" Martin will also run his last mile on the Montana track. "Scotty" has been a consistent performer for the past three years and his steady stride that carried him so gracefully around so many a lap will be missed. "Scotty" not only performed on the track but also in the cross-country running and was a member of the team that placed first in the conference two years ago.

"Shorty" Huber is another member who will make his final appearance. "Shorty's" specialty is the broad jump, in which he has bettered 21 feet many times and has on occasions exceeded 22 feet. "Shorty" is a jovial fellow and his absence will be missed as much by the team as by the cinder-path followers.

Graham in Last Appearance.
Lester Graham is the other trackster to finish his track career. "Bus" as he is called deals in handling the weights and although not a three year man he has been a remarkable performer in the discus. "Bus" and "Shorty" are the Mutt

Grizzly Band Wins R.O.T.C. Track Meet

Score Three-Point Margin
Over Company C.
"A" Third.

With a three point margin over Company C, the R. O. T. C. Band pulled through with a total of 41 points to win the inter-company track meet held on Dornblaser field Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Company 3 won the claim to second place with 41 points. Company A was third with 27 points, while Company B took the cellar place with 10 points.

Company C started off in winning style Wednesday when Thibodeau broke the tape in the 100 yard dash with Ruth second while Turner brought third place to Company A. The time was 10.8. Band had things their own way in the pole vault with Nelson first and Fry and Wallace tying for second honors.

Spaulding First in High Hurdles.
In the 120 yard high hurdles, Spaulding romped into first place for Company C while Noyes and Nelson drew second and third places for the bandmen. The mile run went to Company A, Goggins running the distance in 4 minutes and 55 seconds. Thompson came in second for Company B, and Clark contributed third place to the musicians.

Nelson had no trouble clearing the bar in the high jump to win first place for the bandmen. White, Com and Jeff of the track team, "Bus" being over six feet and "Shorty" being barely able to exceed five feet.

The Montana entries in the meet tomorrow are not certain but they will be nearly the same as those in the Intercollegiate that was held two weeks ago.

Track in Good Condition.
With last evening's rain the track will be in fair condition but not as good as it has been in the past due to the excessive amount of hot weather that we have experienced in the last few weeks. It is not safe to forecast that any records will be broken but from the performances of the track men there is a possibility that one or two may be lowered.

The meet tomorrow will determine who will be the men who will represent Montana at the conference meet to be held at Eugene, Oregon, a week from Saturday.

In the 880 yard run Goggins brought another first place for Company A while his running mate, Turner, added third place. Gaughan of Company B was second.

Thibodeau, who had already contributed two first places and a third, stepped the 220 yard low hurdles in 27 flat to add one more first place to Company C's total. Noyes finished second for the bandmen with Ayers on his heels to give Company A third.

With Thibodeau, Loftsgaarden, White, and Snyder carrying the baton in the 440 yard relay, Company C added the final first place of the meet.

Grizzlies to Meet Real Competition in Some Events of Dual Meet Tomorrow

Vandals Expected to Come Off Second Best; Handicapped by Loss of Cleaver, Johnson, Collins and Mitchell.

Though Idaho is picked to take second place in the dual meet here tomorrow afternoon, there is no question but what the Grizzlies will have real competition in some of the events. In the meet a year ago with the Vandals, Idaho won first place in the mile run, the relay, the high jump, 120-yard high hurdles, pole vault, and broad jump. When the Vandals go on the field tomorrow afternoon they will be materially handicapped by the loss of Cleaver, Johnson, Mitchell and Collins. However, new material has bolstered up the squad considerably.

Vandal Point Winners.

Men who will be in competition tomorrow who won points for Idaho against Montana last year are:

W. S. C. Garners Lead In Northern Division

Defeats Oregon University Nine by 13-11 Score.

Washington State went into the lead in the race for the baseball title in the Northern division of the Pacific Coast conference Monday by trouncing Oregon university 13-11 while the Idaho squad was winning from Oregon State, 7-6 at Moscow. The Beavers of Oregon State had held the lead almost from the beginning in one of the tightest races the conference has ever seen. At present it is possible for any team in the league to win the title as Idaho, in last place, has lost but six games while winning five. Washington State maintained its pace Tuesday by winning again from Oregon although Oregon State overwhelmed Idaho.

Oregon State will meet Washington at Seattle in two games today and tomorrow in a series that will have an important bearing on the final standing of the league. Oregon is now in third place with Washington in fourth.
